Eating Disorders, Self- Mutilation, and Sexual Abuse

October 23, 2009

From 9:00_{am} to 3:00_{pm} (Registration 8:30_{am})

Steven Levenkron is a psychotherapist with over 30 years of practice in New York City. Author of seven books, both fiction and non-fiction, published from 1978, Mr. Levenkron's work is widely acclaimed as original and groundbreaking in both the theoretical conception and clinical treatment of Anorexia Nervosa, Self-Mutilation, and Obsessive Compulsive Disorder. His books include the highly acclaimed Cutting: Understanding and Overcoming Self-Mutilation, Anatomy of Anorexia, and The Luckiest Girl in the World, a novel about a self-mutilator. His latest book is titled Stolen Tomorrows: Understanding and Treating Women's Childhood Sexual Abuse, with Abby Levenkron.

His clinical work with patients, began in 1970, is based on the Nurturant – Authoritative approach that he developed as a direct result of treating the victims of these endangering disorders. In his private practice he has assisted many young people in their recovery from these serious disorders, helping them back to healthy productive lives.

Eating Disorders, Self-Mutilation, and Sexual Abuse

Workshop With Steven Levenkron

October 23, 2009

This course will provide an overview of issues relating to eating disorders, cutting & self-mutilation, and sexual abuse within the adolescent age group. Topics of discussion and presentation will include prevalence and current trends, identification and treatment of such issues, and evidence-based practices and treatments. The course will present a framework in which to view the client's psychological make-up (including biopsychosocial), the rationale or meaning of "acting out" symptoms (phenomenal experience, secondary gain, and growth of the symptoms), and the development of addictive elements. Attendees of the course will also gain understanding of the reasons for the choice of symptoms, provocations, and personality history as well as elements in the treatment relationship that will make recovery desirable to the client, including treatment settings and psychotherapeutic techniques.

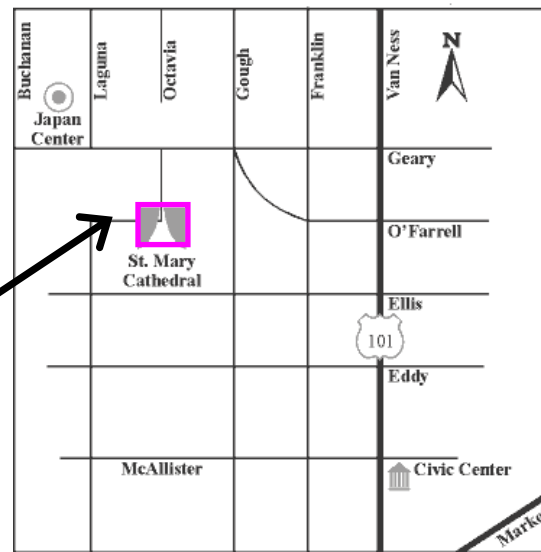

Goals & Objectives: As a result of attending these presentations, the participant will be able to:

1. Present a framework in which to view client's psychological make up, the rationale or meaning of acting out symptoms (phenomenal experience, secondary gain, and growth of the symptoms), and the development of addictive elements.
2. List reasons for the choice of symptoms, provocations, and personality history.
3. Learn elements in the treatment relationship that will make recovery desirable to the client, as well as treatment settings and therapeutic techniques.
